

Celebrating 40 Years of the International Social Survey Programme

Joint call for abstracts (papers): 3rd ISSP User Conference and International Journal of Sociology

In honor of the 40th anniversary of the International Social Survey Programme (ISSP), the ISSP Secretariat and the editor of the International Journal of Sociology, invite submissions for a special collection of papers displaying the power of time-comparative research using ISSP data. We welcome contributions that employ ISSP data to conduct comparative analyses across countries, regions, and time-periods. Submissions may address a diverse array of topics, including but not limited to social inequality, family dynamics, political attitudes, environmental concerns, religious beliefs, and cultural values.

Papers should demonstrate innovative methodologies, theoretical insights, and substantive findings from ISSP data. Submissions exploring methodological challenges and best practices in time-comparative research with ISSP data are also encouraged.

The acceptance process consists of two steps. First, extended abstracts (approx. 1500 words) should be submitted by email to the ISSP Secretariat. The Secretariat reviews the submissions and invites the selected authors to present at the ISSP user conference. Papers presented at the conference may then be submitted to the International Journal of Sociology. Each submission will undergo a rigorous peer-review process to ensure the quality and scholarly integrity of the publication. Only those papers that pass this evaluation will be considered for the journal's special issue, to be published in late 2025.

This year, ISSP will award a prize of EUR 500 to the best conference paper. Authors wishing to be considered must submit a full paper to the Secretariat by November 14th.
